Impressive Ceremonies To End Lent

Programs At All Of The Local Churches Will Begin Today

Observance of Lent comes to an end this week with impressive Holy Week ceremonies which promise to attract scores of worshippers from their daily routine into a new dedication of Christian faith. All churches of the city are open daily for prayer and meditation in preparation for Easter Sunday, and special Holy Week services will be held during the last three days before Easter.

The Vigil of Maundy Thursday, an adaptation of an early fourth century office to which has been added a solemn observance of Holy Communion will be celebrated at the Congregational Church at 8 o'clock this evening with the adult choir presenting the beautiful Bach chorale "O Sacred Head Now Wounded." There will be no sermon, but personal meditation and prayer. Assisting laymen in the service will be Ben Mobley, chairman of the church board; Ralph Lord, chairman of the deacons; Convers L. Twycross, R. H. Pickett, R. R. Hartman, Wilbur S. Hull, Lewis George and H. Clay Reavis.

Maundy Thursday is also being celebrated at the Church of the Ascension where the service of Preparation for Easter Communion will be held at 7:30 this evening, and at St. Rita's Shrine. Tomorrow, Good Friday, The Tree of Life will be commemorated at the Passionists Monastery, with the Rev. Father Isadore Dwyer, C.P., giving sermons. Musical interludes will be presented by the children's and youths' choirs of St. Rita's Church, with the Misses Bette Kelley, Rita Brauman and Ed McCloskey appearing as soloists. The impressive service with sermons on the Seven Last Words of Christ will begin at 12 noon and continue until 3 p.m.

The three hour service of the Passion will also be observed at the Church of the Ascension during the same hours as the Rev. John S. Neal presents the Seven Words From the Cross. Easter even services will be held at the Church of the Ascension with morning prayer and altar service at 10 a.m. and holy baptism at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

At St. Rita's Shrine the traditional Holy Saturday service with blessing of the Easter water and sermon on the 12 prophecies from the Old Testament will begin at 7 a.m. with High Mass following at 8 o'clock.

War Rationing Hits Children's Easter Egg Hunt Party

Sierra Madre's annual Easter egg party sponsored by the volunteer firemen will feel the effects of war rationing this year as only half the usual number of baskets could be secured. Tonight wives of the volunteer firemen will fill baskets for 250 youngsters, and the firemen will color two and a half cases of eggs which will be used in the egg hunt and races. Joseph Swanson, secretary of the firemen, says boys and girls of high school age cannot be remembered with the usual Easter gifts this year, but that all youngsters up to the age of 12 will be included in the party.

The egg hunt will begin at 1:30 Saturday and will be followed by six races for boys and girls in age groups from 1 to 12 years, with prizes for youngsters in each group.

Fennels Believed Jap Prisoners Now Thought To Be Safe

First publication of all names of United States citizens held as prisoners of war at Manila has failed to include the names of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Fennel, who were believed to have been taken when Manila was occupied. It is now believed that the Fennels with other Pan American Airways officials, telephone and federal employees took refuge with the American forces holding Corregidor. Mrs. Estelle Fennel, mother of Mr. Fennel, has received word from the War Department and the Red Cross that they have been unable to locate her son or his family and therefore feels certain that they are at Corregidor.

Every Home Should Display The Flag Monday, Says Mayor

While Army Day, April 6, will not call forth any formal observance here in the form of parades or other patriotic events, due to the fact that most of the Sierra Madreans engaged in civilian defense activities or national defense work are out of town through the day, Mayor W. J. Schiltz is asking that all business houses and as many homes as possible display the national colors. "I think that at a time like this we should not only display our country's flag, but also observe the day with any patriotic means within our power," said Mayor Schiltz.

Programs For Easter Announced

Music Plays Important Part In Observance At Sierra Madre Churches

Easter—which annually brings the renewal of life to the earth, and to Christians throughout the world the promise of the resurrection—will be observed here with deeper sincerity Sunday as a large number of Sierra Madreans attend one of the many services where the Easter promise will be reiterated in traditional ceremonies.

Bethany Church will celebrate with a special Easter morning worship, and although the Rev. Sheriff is still seriously ill, he plans to deliver the Easter sermon, "The Bodily Resurrection of Christ." This service will begin at 11:30 with a vibraharp prelude of Easter music. The male quartet will sing "The Riches of Love," while the choir will sing "Christ Liveth in Me." There will also be a trumpet solo, "A Dream of Paradise."

Easter night at 7:30 an Easter musical by the choir and guest soloists will close the day's worship at Bethany. Following a vibraharp prelude the choir will sing "The Earth is the Lord's," and "As It Began to Dawn," with Stanton Irvine and Betty Bush respective soloists. Sam Costales, lyric tenor, will appear as guest soloist. Following the prayer and Scripture reading the choir will sing "Now is Christ Risen," "The Love of the Saviour," "Seek Ye the Lord," with Miss Jean Weekes as soloist, and "What If It Were Today."

"Facing the Fact of Eternal Life" will be the theme of the morning sermon which Rev. Frederic Groetsma has prepared for the Congregational Church service. There will also be music by the combined choirs, and the regular Easter observance with dedication of infants in Christian baptism and reception into membership of the pastor's class of young adults.

Rev. Father Augustine Scannell, C.P., will conduct the three Easter masses at St. Rita's Shrine at 6:30, 8 and 11 a.m. The children's choir will sing at 8 o'clock and St. Rita's choir will sing at the 11 o'clock high mass, with A. Regina Gorty conducting, and Mrs. Wm. Burns at the organ. Music will include "Haec Dies," sung by Eugene Naud; "Missa Regina Cordium," Oscar Van Durme; "Regina Coeli," Pietro Yon, with Isabel Clayton and Edward McCloskey, soloists, and "Cor Jesu," Schuites. Personnel of the choir includes Mmes. Thomas O'Connell, Rudolph Behrens, Isabel Clayton, John Colbert, Herbert Davidson, Wilma Godfrey, William Richards, Peter Thill; Misses Effie Walch, Rita Bauman, Edith DeTemple, Priscilla Godeau, Mary Greivillot, Marie Schiltz, Betty Thill; Messrs. Thomas O'Connell, Joseph Burns, William A. Kinney, Eugene Naud, Edward McCloskey and J. J. Wysocki.

At the 9:45 Full Gospel Service "The Resurrection and Vital Christianity" will be the morning sermon topic, while "The Resurrection and Righteousness" will close the day's celebration at 7:30 p.m.

Easter services at the Church of the Ascension will open with Holy Communion at 7:30, the Children's Choral Eucharist will follow at 9:30 and Choral Eucharist will be celebrated at 11 o'clock when the new St. Cecilia window will be unveiled and dedicated to the memory of Mrs. Frances W. Kitzman who served the church as organist and choir director for more than 20 years. This window, through which light will stream to the organ, was recently completed in Los Angeles.

Blood Donors Here Given High Praise

Arrangements Here Surpassed Those Of Any Other City, Officials Said

Sierra Madre—the smallest city to be visited thus far by the Red Cross Mobile Blood Bank, deposited 53 pints of blood for emergency life saving on the war fronts Friday, when 26 men and 27 women made their contributions to the bank. Shortened working hours for the mobile unit and the surprising fidelity with which Sierra Madreans kept their appointments necessitated holding over a large number of registered donors until later in the spring when the Blood Bank will again visit this city.

Almost one hundred percent of the registered donors arrived on time at the Woman's clubhouse—in sharp contrast to the procedure in Los Angeles and other cities, where an estimated one third regularly fail to keep their appointments.

Carlton Alsop, chairman of the Blood Bank, said the Sierra Madre set-up greatly surpassed that of other cities in equipment, personnel and morale of the donors as well as the volunteer assistants.

The mobile unit arrived shortly after 8 o'clock and was quickly established in the east room of the clubhouse where sunshine poured through windows festooned with blooming wistaria.

Pat Harlan, Santa Anita District Ranger was the first donor to appear and was followed by Gordon McTavish, Miss Martha Pritchard, Mrs. Josephine Marr, and Mrs. A. F. Guignet. Preliminary hemoglobin tests were quickly completed, weight and blood pressure recorded, and donors placed in charge of Dr. Robert Watson and Dr. M. R. Hammaron who were assisted by four registered nurses, nurses aids and members of the motor corp.

When each donation had been made a small labeled vial was filled for typing and the sealed pint placed in a large refrigerated container. Within 48 hours the pints were scheduled to arrive at Berkeley to be placed in a huge centrifuge where the plasma and cells are separated. When this first process is completed the plasma, resembling a clear serum, is incubated, then frozen, dehydrated, packed with an accompanying container filled with distilled water and shipped at once to hospitals in the combat zone.

After resting for five minutes donors were escorted by volunteers working under the direction of Mrs. R. E. Wright, to the Osgood Room where they were served coffee and donuts by the canteen staff in charge of Mrs. John L. Woehler.

The entire proceeding was completed on schedule and efficiently directed by Mrs. Wright, whose untiring efforts were largely responsible for the success of the day. Before leaving the clubhouse each donor was presented with a bronze label button in recognition of the service, with the exception of Kiwanians who received theirs from Carl Hansen, president of the Kiwanis Club, at the regular meeting Tuesday. As soon as typing has been completed each donor will receive a small membership card as an official Red Cross blood donor.

Among the donors were Mrs. Nelle Vielra, whose son Robert experienced the bombing of Pearl Harbor; Dale Langley, whose brother Capt. Claire Langley is now with Pacific forces; Joseph Grippi, whose brother Johnnie is with the Army; Dan Reib, who has spent many years in China and knows the horrors of war without adequate medical aid; Mrs. Viola Hamilton, who on January 27 made her first contribution to the Blood Bank; and Mrs. A. A. Rutledge whose son

Record Crowd At Wistaria Festival

Plaque Honoring Mrs. Ida Lawless Unveiled At Dedication Ceremony

A tiny Chinese wistaria vine purchased in Monrovia for 75 cents 49 years ago, then trained over an acre of trellising, and finally established as a public garden, on Sunday attracted nearly three thousand Southland visitors to Sierra Madre to honor the memory of Mrs. Alice Brumman, Henry T. Fennel and Mrs. W. J. Lawless.

Mrs. Brumman planted the vine which through the patient care of Henry T. Fennel was brought to its present size, and Mrs. Lawless at an estimated expense of $90,000 established the vine in a permanent garden where visitors from all over the world are welcomed throughout the year.

Opening a memorial service to these three late Sierra Madreans, Bruce McGill, nephew of Mrs. Lawless and present owner of the Wistaria Vine Gardens, said: "You know, folks, this vine represents life itself, and all the complications which enter into life. It is big because a man was determined to make it the largest vine in all the world, and when he had succeeded Mrs. Lawless was permanently established as an inspiration to others."

Comparing this achievement to problems now confronting mankind, Mr. McGill said: "Just as determination, hard work, and personal and financial sacrifice brought their dream to realization, so we can win through to victory in the present crisis if we greet each day with determination, work early and late to achieve our goal and make tremendous sacrifices."

Mirandy, radio personality who has entered into the hearts of thousands of listeners with her daily program of gardens and living philosophy, unveiled a plaque centered with a portrait of Mrs. Lawless, the work of her close friend, Graziella Jacoby, Pasadena artist. Said Mirandy in the characteristic vernacular of the Southern mountain folk: "This vine is the crowning achievement of a life dedicated to the advancement of the arts. Throughout her life Mrs. Lawless could always find another thing to lay her hand to. She just dug in and forgot the rewards, knowing that God has no hands but ours and that it is up to us to bring his work to consummation."

The dedication ceremony was closed with a benediction by Arthur O. Pritchard, D.D., in a warm and fitting tribute to Mrs. Lawless who gave the last years of her life to establishment of the garden as one of the show places of the state.

La Golondrina, one of the beloved melodies of Mrs. Lawless, was played by Jose Arias and his Spanish Californians, who later in the day delighted visitors with music and dancing in the California manner.

Throughout the Fete the plaque will remain at the base of the Vine, and later will be given a permanent setting in the Little Gallery.

Sunday's crowd at the Vine was the largest the Wistaria Fete has attracted on any one day in several years and the attendance has been in proportion throughout the week, as the bright, warm days have brought the great vine into its full loveliness.

Jack is now with the Army.

Other donors were Miss Lalla Fagge, Miss Constance Campbell, Mrs. R. A. Pratt, Gerald Smith, Morgan Leshner, Mrs. Ruth Smith, Mrs. Hazel George, Mrs. W. Jarvis Barlow, Jr., Mrs. Jean Kearney, Fred LaLone, Mrs. Helen Johnson, James Heasley, Jr., Arthur Johnson, Mrs. Hall Perry, Mrs. Ralph Jones, Harold Strange, Mrs. Lucia H. Ramsaur, Wm. A. Kinney, Lewis McClelland, Mrs. Bertha Thompson, Henry W. Coit, Marie Barone, Boyd E. Keith, Mrs. Randolph Wood, Huston Sprunger, Rebecca Robinson, Mrs. Charles Klunk, C. G. Hunt, singer, Ray R. Hudson, R. A. Hawks, Bruce McGill, Louise C. Stamer, Harvey D. Wright, Dr. J. Stadden Miller, Carl Hansen, Mrs. Ida McCormack, P. R. Penn, Donald R. Damon, Mrs. Clement May and Rudolph Hartman.

When work of the mobile unit had been completed all members of the professional staff from Los Angeles were entertained by Bruce McGill at luncheon at the Wistaria Vine.

Classes To Train Volunteers For Womens Motor Corps

Plans were being formulated this week for the inauguration of 14 new classes in "Motor Mechanics and Related Skills"—a course of study designed to train women motor corps volunteers to operate any type of motor vehicle skillfully and efficiently in case of emergency—under the cooperative supervision of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Eligible for the training classes are those volunteer groups recognized and accepted by local defense authorities and local Red Cross chapters as essential in the all-out war effort, marked for call in event of a major emergency. Enrollees must be accredited members of such an organization and selected for this special training by an executive officer.

The course of study includes the following key subjects: motor mechanics, accidents and regulations, skillful driving practices, gas mask demonstrations and map reading technique.

WE COULD HELP, TOO

Under the title of "Care in the Kitchen Cooks Hitler's Goose," various helpful hints to housewives in England were published recently by British authorities.

The British estimate that if the following suggestions were carried out, enough food would be saved to feed the entire country for two weeks. The suggestions include:

Food value is lost through overcooking; the outer leaves of cabbages, etc., if too tough to be served as a vegetable, make nourishing soups; peeling potatoes is a peacetime luxury and destroys valuable roughage; save fat by frying the bacon rinds separately and use the fried rinds to flavor soups; and less sugar is required to sweeten stewed fruit if added just before cooking is completed.

Oven-Hot and Savory

stars for meatless meal
by Dorothy Greig

As you lift this casserole freshly hot from oven to table, one whiff of its tangy cheese-tomato fragrance tells you how good it is.

It is a nourishing dish, too, stout enough for duty as the main dish of a meatless meal. To team with it we suggest a big bowl of salad greens, brittle crisp, and mixed with French dressing:

1 package (6 oz.) noodles
1 can condensed tomato soup
¾ cups (¾ pound) grated cheese
1 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce
¼ teaspoon dry mustard

Cook the noodles in salted water until tender, then drain. Pour the tomato soup in a double boiler, add 2 cups of the grated cheese and stir until the cheese has melted. Remove double boiler from heat add Worcestershire Sauce and dry mustard, then beat well with a rotary egg beater. Mix the cooked noodles with the tomato cheese sauce, put into a casserole sprinkle the remaining ¼ cup grated cheese over the noodles. Heat under the broiler or in a hot oven, until the cheese melts and is delicately brown. Serves 6.

Wedding invitations or announcements—printed or engraved—at the NEWS office are up-to-date and reasonably priced.

Side Glances and Soliloquies

by Libby Trimble

If you should at any time in the near future see me running madly down the street whistling at sailors, soldiers or marines, don't be surprised. It's all in a day's work. I'm not getting fresh—just keeping up with names of new recruits, promotions of enlisted men, etc., in order that none of you will make the mistake of addressing a corporal or sergeant incorrectly. And, soldiers, sailors and marines, if you hear me whistle, please stop.

Nina Neale, a southpaw, tells a story on herself of her school days. She could never manage to pass arithmetic examinations and no one could understand why until her teacher, knowing that Nina wasn't stupid, watched her add a column of figures starting from the left hand side. It has all the earmarks of a premeditated act as she was excused from arithmetic from that time on.

There must be special rates on haircuts this week. Three people who usually bear a slight resemblance to sheep dogs or French poodles, (namely John Copeland, Dale Langley and Roger Armstrong) have blossomed out with neatly trimmed coiffures which are causing all sorts of interesting comments... especially Roger's, which is a little on the extreme side.

It's a perpetual wonder to me how these little women manage to accomplish so much in the way of housework and social activities without looking wilted and disagreeable. Maybe they're tougher than they look.

Campaigns for the city election are under way with the competition hot and heavy. Always reminds me of the excitement before the start of a horse race. Whether or not the candidates will admit it, most of them act a little jittery.

The slap-stick by-play between "Shorty" Steinberger and a gasoline customer, Saturday night, may result in the gift of a new pencil for "Shorty," who handed a repeater pencil, and a ticket to the driver to sign. When the pencil refused to work after the fifth trial the customer gaily tossed both articles out the window and advised "Shorty" to sign it himself.

To the Citizens of Sierra Madre:

Many of our fellow townsmen with whom I have discussed our municipal affairs since America was drawn into the World War believed that through my long and intimate association with the city's business and because of some very definite and constructive ideas I have outlined, my services to the community might be particularly valuable at this time. So I became a candidate for election to the City Council.

AL S. MYERS

First and foremost I believe that our first obligation is to the Nation in its greatest hour of need and that our city government owes it the very greatest possible co-operation. To this end we should conserve every possible material and resource. This means the abandonment of such unnecessary projects as development of a new water well estimated by the city's engineering department to cost in excess of $20,000 and calling for the use of over 50 tons of copper and steel required by the armed forces and so urgently necessary in carrying on the war that the use of these materials for many purposes has been prohibited by the government.

There are many other services we as a community can and should render the government to our own great benefit. To this end I have submitted to the Federal government at Washington a detailed plan calculated to guarantee an uninterrupted water supply for our own and other communities of Los Angeles county in face of the most violent bombings and other attacks upon our reservoirs, pumping facilities and pipe lines. This plan, approved by every water engineer to which it has been submitted, is now being studied for the Government.

In the meantime there can and should be a connection between the water lines of Sierra Madre, Arcadia, Monrovia, Pasadena and the Metropolitan Water District, most of which pass through our city, so that if one or more lines should be put out of commission through bombings or other wartime destructive methods, a water supply would still be available. This should be done at the earliest possible minute—should have been done immediately after we entered the war.

There are many measures for the protection of the lives and properties of our citizens that should be put into effect NOW—not when our security is even more seriously threatened—and it is my purpose if elected to do everything possible to put them into force IMMEDIATELY.

Our people are contributing most substantially and patriotically by taxation and the purchase of Defense Bonds and Stamps to carry on the war and I believe they should be relieved of every possible expense in the conduct of our local government by the elimination of all frills and unnecessary projects and expenditures and it will be my aim to see that this is done vigorously but intelligently.

I am a registered engineer, served this city over a period of nine years as a member of the City Council, Mayor and Business Manager, and served as a member of the United States Army for two and a half years during the Spanish-American war.

Believing that I can be of real service to the community and pledging my most untiring efforts to that end, I earnestly solicit your support at the polls on election day, April 14.

Respectfully yours,

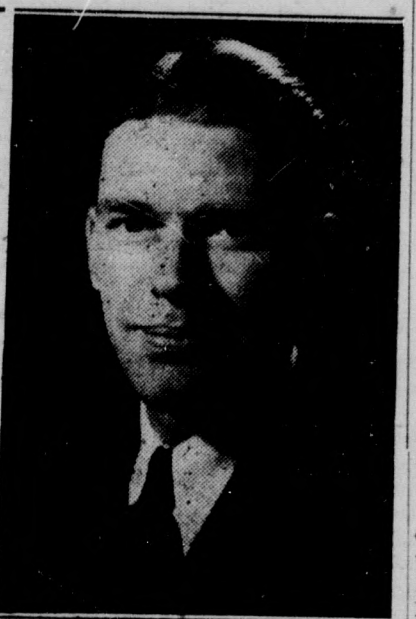

AL S. MYERS

To The Voters OF Sierra Madre

It has been my privilege to serve you during the last four years as City Councilman.

I now offer myself as a candidate for re-election on the record of my services and if re-elected will continue to do all within my ability for this city.

Protect eyes at home with good lighting

Good lighting is an important aid in doing any job well. Without it, eyestrain and fatigue are likely to result. Your family's eyes should be protected with light that makes seeing easy and protects precious sight. Have lots of properly shaded light at every place in your home where night activities involve close seeing. Sight-saving light costs so little and means so much.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA EDISON COMPANY LTD.

YOU GUESSED WRONG! HE'S IN THE INFANTRY!—In modern warfare infantrymen fight with other arms than the traditional rifle. This soldier operates a 37-millimeter gun and among his comrades on foot are mechanics, cyclists, telephone operators, ski troopers, "walkie-talkie" radio men, parachute troops and airborne infantry. Off to each flank of infantry troops, mounted in a speeding armored car or crouched behind his well-concealed weapon at a road junction is the 37-millimeter gunner. Primarily, in modern warfare, he has but one target: enemy tanks and armored vehicles. His first shot must be a direct hit for armored vehicles travel at a high rate of speed and a miss means precious seconds lost.

As It Appears To me

There are some people in this world who evidently live for the sole purpose of taking the joy out of it for anyone else. They have a technical explanation for everything, and the worst part of it is that they invariably have reason and logic on their side, and I, in my more rational moments, agree with them. But who wants to be rational all the time?

These shatters of illusion know every quality of the human spirit only as chemical reactions to something or other. They will painstakingly tell you that one person is better than another, not because of his background, religious training or his desire to go through life leaving as little wreckage as possible, but because the chemistry of his body is in more perfect balance than that of the other fellow.

Take spring fever. I am not necessarily a romanticist, but when the days are like today, and the nights glorious with moonlight my mind is apt to go off exploring the California coast line, the long green valleys, stretching down to the sea, flower-studded the fragrant, while my tired soul, breathes in renewed courage and kindness toward everyone. But what happens? Libby sits here explaining my state away with chemistry. At the moment I am just a group of soulless cells recuperating from a joust with winter when the intensity of sun rays was lessened. She is even suggesting sulphur and molasses. Where are the Gods, that they don't smite such people dumb before they shatter the beauty of spring madness?

This week comes a letter from Joe Hinojos now Sgt. Tech. at Fort Ord. (these ratings of boys at camp have me in a state of constant confusion keeping up with the latest.) Recently Joe had a birthday and townsfolk remembered him with twelve cards and 2 telegrams, and so he writes, "It gave me a grand feeling because usually one is forgotten after being away from home over a year. It sure gives a fellow a boost to know that his friends still remember him with times as they are." This just as a reminder that young men in camp or at some foreign post really do appreciate notes from home.

If you see Gordon McMillan doing more than the usual amount of walking, don't be misled. He isn't saving tires. He is just the innocent victim of a driver who went to sleep at the wheel, permitting his car to career through a parking lot where it crashed into the McMillan chariot, driving it headlong through the wall of a popular beach dining spot. This was the result of a Sunday fishing trip, and Gordon seems just a shade less enthusiastic about fishing than usual.

From Honolulu comes the following slogan to Dale Langley from his brother, Capt. Claire Langley of the 161st Infantry, who writes that over their they don't say "Remember Pearl Harbor," but to the ladies "Remember, Purl Harder."

ALL OF SIERRA MADRE'S CIVIL DEFENSE ACTIVITIES HAVEN'T COST THE CITY A DIME

Acting on a request from the California League of Cities, Waverly Pratt, city clerk, this week began work on an itemized schedule of all monies expended here for defense purposes during the current fiscal year.

Draft Board Awaits Orders For Next Registrations

The local draft board still tabulating men who signed up in the third draft last month, today was expecting orders to prepare for the fourth national draft registration, which will be for men 18-19 and 45 to 64.

The date for the 45-64 draft registration has been set by presidential proclamation for April 27. Included in those registering will be men born on or after April 28, 1887, and on or before February 16, 1897.

Date for the registration of the 18 and 19 year-olds has not yet been proclaimed, but will be in the last week of April, officials believe.

COMEDY-DRAMA HIT NEXT AT PLAYHOUSE

America in the Nineties, in the good old "23 skiddo" days when the girls hid their ankles and only talked of sparring in feminine huddles. But sparked! "One Sunday Afternoon," James Hagan's New York Comedy-drama hit, bi-comes to Pasadena Community Playhouse stage April 7-18. Hagan takes two couples as principals in his story pattern. Down the path of life they go from the Sunday in the park stage to quite some years beyond. Their problems and their joys are chief audience concern in a yarn abounds in simplicity and understanding.

It is anticipated that Sierra Madre's report will show a remarkably low investment in comparison with many neighboring cities as all of the work accomplished under the OCD here has been done on a voluntary basis with no compensation given to any one participating.

This not only applies to the 62 women who made a complete survey of Sierra Madre, obtaining information from every resident as to his or her capabilities in an emergency, and facilities for housing possible evacuees, but also to all members of the executive committee and their assistants, including Mrs. R. O. Caukin, who has directed much of this work as headquarters secretary, and Alyce Anderson, who has made stenotype transcriptions of all meetings.

The expense survey is being made so that accurate information may be submitted to the Federal government by cities asking assistance to carry out the civilian defense program.

The League has also advised all cities to send telegrams to the OCD in Washington, requesting information as to the time when steel helmets will be made available to the coastal areas.

Saves VITAMINS
Saves FUEL...

... CONTROLLED GAS COOKING helps you serve better meals at lower cost!

YES! THE AVERAGE FAMILY can get plenty of vitamins from food alone. But it's all too easy to destroy these essential food elements in cooking. That is why it's important to know about controlled gas cookery—controlled for vitamin economy and fuel economy. Just follow these simple rules:

1. ROASTING AND BAKING— meats taste better (and shrinkage is reduced) with low temperature cooking. What's more, many of the lower-cost cuts are more tender and healthful. Remember, too—you save more vitamins by broiling than by frying. And here is where gas again is the ideal vitamin-saver: with gas, pre-heating the broiler is not essential. This not only saves time, but often helps meats to retain more vitamin-filled juices. The cold grid does not over-cook the underside of the meat during the broiling process.

2. COOKING VEGETABLES: remember, the less water, the more vitamins. (When water is essential, bring it to a boil before using.) Then cover the utensil to keep air out, and turn the gas flame to simmer heat. Cook for the shortest possible time—don't stir any more than necessary—and don't add baking soda. Finally, make tasty soups or cream sauces out of the vitamin-filled excess juices—don't pour them down the drain.

3. IMPORTANT, TOO— foods should be served soon after cooking. Serve plenty of green vegetables. Keep foods as fresh as possible, with dependable automatic refrigeration.

4. AND SUCH ECONOMY! Controlled gas cooking means that foods not only taste better and are more healthful—they cost less to cook. (For you use less gas—and in the average home it actually costs only a third as much to cook with gas.)

BEN LYON BELIEVED SAFE IN WAR ZONE

Although no word has been received here by Mrs. Ben Lyon since the sinking of the U.S.S. Houston, aboard which her son Ben served for many months, Mrs. Lyon feels certain that he had been relieved from duty on the Houston and is probably serving with one of the Pacific Island Forces. His name was not among the list of those lost aboard the Houston as released by the Navy.

ADS FOR FREEDOM

The amazing vitality of commercial advertising in wartime England, where newspapers shrunken by the pulp shortage are packed with scaled-down ads for soap, radios, dog food, chocolate, shoes, tooth paste, cider, vaseline, beer, fur coats, clothing and other normal items, brings this statement from an American advertising agency's observer:

"Woven deep into the ways of democracy is advertising; a bridge between the freedom of people to buy and the freedom of people to sell. Every advertisement appearing here today is a flag of defiance; direct testimony to someone's faith in the future; someone's toast to victory."

It is all that and more to newspaper-minded America. "Modern advertising is a purely American development," points out James Rolph, San Francisco business executive. "Americans read advertising as news—news of improvements in their civilization. Advertising will help win the war—and win a finer life for all who now fight for freedom after shortages and rationing have become matters of history."

Stressing the wide gulf between a theoretical and living democracy, J. Frank Burke, political economist of Los Angeles, spoke to Sierra Madre Kiwanians Tuesday on "The New Order and the Old." Mrs. R. E. Wright presented bronze blood donors lapel buttons to all Kiwanians who donated to the Blood Bank Friday. A flying squad from San Gabriel were special guests.

This evening there will be a special directors meeting at the home of Charles Klunk. Announcement was also made that the annual Community Fund Drive will get under way here April 21.

JOHN L. FITZGERALD Candidate for City Council

Responding to the many requests I have submitted my name as a Candidate for City Council. In doing so I am independent of any political connections or groups and if elected I intend to carry out that kind of government most beneficial to the people of this Community and the Nation...

Under the above rule, the Home is secure, then it follows, as a natural sequence that all peoples in our form of government, whether it is Municipal, County, State or National is protected. It is my opinion that this form of government will pay its citizens dividends.

My experience as an advisor of a County with an assessed valuation of some sixty-five million, and having held the office of District Attorney for four years gives me a somewhat substantial foundation to stand on.

Your support at the election on April 14 will be greatly appreciated.
